Walking course changed for December

The introduction of the walking course near the parking area has been a big hit. This six station course can be used for an introduction for new shooters, a casual short shooting experience, a nice warm up before a round, or some dedicated practice.

No cart is required and it works off the same key system as the rest of the courses. Targets are manageable and there is something for everyone. Menus are up for a 50 bird round and score cards are available in the club house. This is a great opportunity for non shooters to watch and participate in the experience.

Just a reminder, anyone on the property must sign a release in the club house and eye and ear protection is required for everyone.
