

Celebrating 50 Years

FEBRUARY 2025

Big Red Oak is the premier clay shooting and bird hunting venue in the southeast!

Gear up for Spring Quail

Book your quail hunts soon. The cold weather is perfect. Big Red Oak Plantation is an exceptional place for guided or bring-your-own-dog quail hunts.

Quail hunting is a great event for friends, family, corporate groups, clients, etc. Call Lisa at the club house to arrange your next quail hunt.

Now through the end of March.

Big Red Oak Platation Featured In Wing and Clay Life Magazine

If you subscribe to Wing and Clay Life Magazine, check out the great article about BROP and the entire area of Gay, Ga. It does a great job with stories and images to depict this great area of the state and highlight the activities of the plantation. From quail to sporting clays, this article provides wonderful information. There will be several copies of the magazine in the club house for you to see. You can subscribe at

Improve your Game

Did you know that Big Red Oak Plantation and Shooting Preserve provides quality shooting instruction for all levels. If you are just starting out, check with the club house to get additional information lessons for gun safety, basic target shooting, managing a round of sporting clays. For more advanced shooters, Wendell Cherry is the resident shooting professional with instructional times available throughout the year (book early)

Walking course: Great Family Times

The addition of the walking course behind the club house has been a big hit. This 8 station course is great for warming up, a quick 50 bird shoot, or some time to introduce family and friends to this great sport. The targets are very manageable and a great way to learn.

Rental equipment is available at the club house along with shotgun shells.

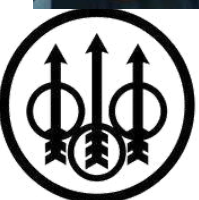

Remember, come by the club house and sign the waiver. Eye protection and ear protection for everyone is required on all courses.

Be safe and have a great time.
